RULING ON ENTITLEMENT¹

Vowell, Chief Special Master:

On February 11, 2015, Bridgette Wiley filed a petition for compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, 42 U.S.C. §300aa-10, et seq.,² [the "Vaccine Act" or "Program"]. Petitioner alleges that she suffered an adverse reaction to the influenza vaccine she received on November 21, 2012 resulting in severe pain and several surgeries. Petition, ¶¶ 4, 39. The case was assigned to the Special Processing Unit of the Office of Special Masters.

On June 15, 2015, respondent filed her Rule 4(c) report in which she "recommends that compensation be awarded in this case." Respondent's Rule 4(c) Report at 1. Specifically, respondent "has concluded that a preponderance of evidence establishes that the injury to petitioner's right shoulder was caused-in-fact by the administration of her November 21, 2012, flu vaccine, and that petitioner's injury is not due to factors unrelated to the administration of the flu vaccine." Id. at 3-4. Furthermore, respondent agrees that petitioner's injury lasted for more than six months. Id. at 4.

In view of respondent's concession and the evidence before me, I find that petitioner is entitled to compensation.
